“My Boss is a Jewish Carpenter”

What does it take to gain true success in life? How do we measure that? Is it about job status, performance rating, income, what degree we hold and from what university? Some would say yes, yes, yes, and yes! Others would say no, it's about family. How good of a father or mother, wife or husband am I? Someone else would say it's simply about being a good friend. Each of these is at least a piece of the truth.

But what about spiritual success? Most of us can live with the standards we are held to at our job or by our peers. But what if someone came right out and said, "What have you done for God lately? How successful are you in the Kingdom of God?" I don't know about you, but here's where things can get mighty uncomfortable for me—until I remember Who I'm dealing with. That's right. I know God is God and I'm not and I owe Him everything. I know that no one has higher standards than He. But even with all that, I'm still comfortable knowing I work for Him. I used to have a key ring that said, "My Boss is a Jewish Carpenter," and it's true. His name is Jesus!

Just look at the people God chose to work with in the Bible. All of them were sinners, and most of them pretty big sinners. Even among the "A List" Bible characters, we find two were murderers, one was involved in a huge national cover-up scandal, another tried to pass his wife off as his sister and nearly got both of them killed. One became a traitor to his people and worked for the enemy king for a while. Most of them tried to run the other way or refuse to cooperate when God called them. They made pretty lame excuses. I can relate.

But the other thing they had in common was that they finally figured out that God loved them, even after they did all their bad stuff. They finally figured out that He was good, and in the long run, worth giving up everything for. God's choice of co-workers says a lot to me about myself and what I might accomplish for

Pastor-Congregation Relations Support Team

The Ministry and Worship Commission, with the approval of the Board, decided to create a support team for the pastor and the congregation to aid in the resolution of any conflicts that may arise. The appointed team members are Bob Long, Dick Ambrosius and Angie Ruth. The Ministry and Worship Commission will oversee the team. Please contact one of the members of the team or the Ministry and Worship Commission if you feel you have not been able to resolve a conflict on your own. It is the Commission's hope that any areas of conflict can be resolved without hurt feelings. As the body of Christ, it is imperative that we work together to keep our church healthy.

Him. It helps me realize that He isn't choosing me for my resume, but because he knows that when He does anything good through me, He will get the credit, not me. And that's been His plan all along- for our lives to point to Him!

To illustrate this point, I have included the following. It is a delightful look at Jesus' disciples for who they really were when He called them. It's especially good when we remember how He used them after He was gone (back to heaven). They did pretty well in the end, and so can we- if we just let Him use us. What if Jesus' disciples had been vetted by professional consultants?

TO: Jesus, Son of Joseph, Woodcrafter's Carpenter Shop, Nazareth
 FROM: Jordan Management Consultants

Dear Sir:

Thank you for submitting the resumes of the 12 men you have picked for managerial positions in your new organization. All of them have now taken our battery of tests... and we have not only run the results through our computer, but also arranged personal interviews for each of them with our psychologists and vocational aptitude consultant.

It is the staff opinion that most of your nominees are lacking in background, education and vocational aptitude for the type of enterprise you are undertaking. They do not have the team concept. We would recommend that you continue your search for persons of experience in managerial ability and proven capacity.

Simon Peter is emotionally unstable and given to fits of temper. Andrew has absolutely no qualities of leadership. The two brothers, James and John, the sons of Zebedee, place personal interest above company loyalty. Thomas demonstrates a questioning attitude that would tend to undermine morale. We feel it is our duty to tell you that Matthew has been black-listed by the Greater Jerusalem Better Business Bureau. James, the son of Alphaeus, and Thaddaeus definitely have radical leanings, and they both registered a high score on the manic-depressive scale.

One of the candidates, however, shows great potential. He is a man of ability and resourcefulness, meets people well, and has a keen business mind and has contacts in high places. He is highly motivated, ambitious and responsible. We recommend Judas Iscariot as your comptroller and right-hand man. All of the other profiles are self-explanatory. We wish you every success in your new venture.

Sincerely yours, etc.

Aren't you glad those guys aren't vetting you and me!? We speak today of people having feet of clay. Most people feel that way when God taps them for something. And that's not a bad thing, because the Bible says God can use us best when we're humble. Paul uses clay as his image for us believers in a wonderful line from his second letter to the Corinthians:

But we have this treasure in jars of clay to show that this all-surpassing power is from God and not from us. -2 Cor. 4:7

Paul didn't ever want anyone thinking that the things he did were his own doing, or that he was anything special. He was glad when God got the credit. He knew that when God asked him to do something, be somewhere, say or write something, that God would give him the power to do it. All he had to do was trust and obey.

Success? Do you think that Peter, James, John, Paul were successful? We still read their words today, and will continue to right up until we all meet in Heaven. And they will tell us then what they told us long ago- that He is good, and in the long run, worth giving up everything for! Think about that. Amen.

Pastor Mark
